Hams To Meet Tuesday Night

The January meeting of the Wellesley Amateur Radio Society will be held at 7:30 P.M. January 2. The club secretary, Walter Lenk, has announced that Mr. Darlo Botha, a communications engineer, will speak on the application of Tropospheric Scatter techniques to amateur radio communications.

The talk will cover a description of what "Troposcatter" is, how it is being used commercially and by the military, and how Hams can avail themselves of the technique. The meeting will be followed by refreshments.

The club meeting room is located in the basement of the Wellesley Hills Branch of the Wellesley Free Library and all those in the area who are interested in radio are invited to attend.

Ham Society To Give Courses Here

Classes in amateur radio theory and Morse code, sponsored by the Wellesley Amateur Radio Society, will begin on Wednesday and Thursday nights, January 4 and 5 at 7:30. The courses to be offered will follow an outline prepared by the American Radio Relay League and the only cost will be the purchase of an inexpensive text for home study.

The Wednesday night classes will be open to those with little or no previous radio experience and will be directed towards helping the student obtain a Novice Class, FCC license. The official FCC examination will be given as a part of the course.

The Thursday night classes will assist those who already hold a Novice License, to obtain a Technician or General Class

FCC license. The Technician License exam will be given as part of the course, but the General Class exam must be taken at the FCC office in Boston.

For more information, or to register for either course, call Mr. Lud Fasolich at 237-0316 or come to the clubroom in the basement of the Wellesley Hills branch of the Wellesley Free Library on the night the course begins.
